Many State Flags Are Requested

TALLAHASSEE, (FNS) — Secretary of State Tom Adams reports more than 600 requests for Florida state flags have been received by his office from Florida servicemen fighting in Vietnam.

Letters requesting the state banner are pouring in to Adams' office at the rate of 20 a day.

The flag project was launched two months ago when servicemen began requesting Florida flags because they were exempt from regulations governing the flying of national banners. When the limited supply of flags was exhausted, members of Adams' staff donated money for additional flags.

Word of the project got out and Floridians opened their pocketbooks and the flag fund climbed to $2,162. A special Flags for Vietnam Fund was established at a Tallahassee bank where donations from all over the state are deposited.

In an effort to make the program as personal as possible, each donor has been paired with a serviceman requesting a flag. A letter is written to the serviceman telling him the name of the person who purchased the flag for him. A copy of the letter is also sent to the donor.

Cost of each flag, including overseas mailing, runs approximately $6.50. All Floridians are being encouraged to donate to the fund in multiples of 6.50.

Mrs. Annette McCurdy has gone to Tignall, Georgia, for a visit with her parents.

Now— U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest 4.15% when held to maturity Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E—9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding Bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front line of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

Miss Bobbie Farmer, H. E. Cunningham Wed In Belle Glade

Miss Bobbie Gayle Farmer of Belle Glade and Harry Enecks Cunningham of Pahokee were united in marriage in a double-ring, candle-light ceremony held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25, in the First Baptist Church at Belle Glade, with Rev. C. H. Eiland, pastor, officiating. The altar was decorated for the event with palm fronds and arrangements of white gladioli and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Farmer, 173 N. E. 3rd Street, Belle Glade. She graduated in 1955 from Belle Glade High school, where she was a member of the DCT Club during her senior year. She is now employed in the offices of the Bank of Belle Glade.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, 1947 Bacon Point Road, Pahokee, graduated from Pahokee High School with the Class of 1964, following which he attended Emory and Henry College, Emory, Virginia, and Palm Beach Junior College. He is presently an employee of the Florida Power and Light Company.

David Cunningham, brother of the bridegroom, sang "The Ring," "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and the "Wedding Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Kathy Fergusson, who also played traditional nuptial selections.

Miss Sandra Farmer, sister of the bride, as maid of honor wore a yellow and white street-length dress of silk and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Horace Mann, the bride wore a street-length gown of white lace, fashioned with scalloped neckline and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Her short illusion veil was attached to a headpiece of matching material. She carried a bridal bouquet of white orchids.

Allan Fowler, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Buddy Culbertson, Joe Davis and Kirby Mole were ushers.

Mrs. Farmer chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece beige suit of silk with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The dress of Mrs. Cunningham, mother of the bridegroom, was of pink silk, with matching accessories. She wore a white rose corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the social hall of the church, where the decorations again featured palm fronds, white gladioli and mums. The three-layer wedding cake on the refreshments table was topped with wedding bells. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Judy Fowler, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Peggy Mann, sister of the bride; Mrs. Barbara Milligan, Mrs. Pat Lowe, Mrs. Gailyn Williams and Mrs. Aleen McAllister.

For the wedding trip to Palm Beach, Mrs. Cunningham changed to a two-piece beige suit with matching accessories and wore a white orchid corsage. The couple are now at their home 1947 Bacon Point Road.

Pesticides Study Is To Be Made

GAINESVILLE—An $89,155.00 grant to learn how pesticides behave inside animals when fed as part of their diet has been awarded to the Animal Science Department at the University of Florida.

The three-year grant, given by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, division of human nutrition research, will be directed by Dr. John P. Feaster, associate biochemist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Working with him will be Dr. George K. Davis, professor of nutrition and director of biological sciences at Florida, and Dr. Charles H. Van Middelheim, biochemist and director of the Southern Experiment Stations' Pesticide Laboratory which is located on the UF campus.

Despite wide use of pesticides in producing this country's food supplies, little has been done with their possible effects on animals through the feed eaten.

The residues are not harmful at the low levels permitted by law. In fact, USDA and the Food and Drug Administration keep close tabs on pesticide tolerances in animal feeds and our own food.

However, Dr. Feaster says it's important that scientists know how these various chemicals act when they're inside the body.

"There has been no evidence up to now," Dr. Feaster says, "of any harmful effects from low pesticide levels present in animal and human foods."

But we want to make certain that pesticides are safe even at higher levels than are now permitted," he said.

It would be well, he pointed out, to know if feed containing even these low levels of pesticides do bring about "adverse conditions" in animals under stress.

A good example is pregnancy.

This type of information, according to Feaster, would be valuable in the case of trace minerals which are needed by humans and animals and include zinc, copper, iodine and iron.

Dr. Feaster says these trace minerals are highly important because they are essential for the development of normal offspring whether animal or human.

Any action between the trace minerals and the pesticides found in the feed "may possibly alter" their availability to a mother, and therefore to her offspring.

What this means is that if low levels of pesticides do cut the amount of trace minerals going to the unborn offspring, damage could result.

It's suspected that one action of pesticides may be to decrease the activity of enzymes which are responsible for the life processes in animal tissues.

Several of the trace elements are necessary for these enzymes to act, Dr. Feaster points out.

The scientist noted that whatever is found as a result of this new grant may be extremely helpful to medical doctors and food nutritionists.

Actual work on the project is expected to get underway in October at the Animal Nutrition Laboratory on the UF campus.

Now— U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E—9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding Bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

Better-Breakfast Month Is September

The Board of County Commissioners of Palm Beach County has proclaimed September as "Better Breakfast Month" in Palm Beach County.

The County Extension home economists, school and county health workers are sponsoring the Better Breakfast Campaign in the county, according to Miss Mary Todd, Palm Beach County Extension home economist.

The proclamation, signed by the Palm Beach Board of County Commissioners, and County Commissioners E. F. Van Kessel, Lake Lytal, Edward Bandlow, and E. W. "Bud" Weaver, points out that the health and well-being of the citizens of Palm Beach County to a large degree depends upon good nutrition. It states that thousands of children and adults of Palm Beach County start the day with "no fuel." Nutrition authorities agree that a good breakfast, including protein, helps one to be sharper in his thinking and actions during the morning, preventing that let-down feeling, the proclamation says.

The Commissioners call upon all Palm Beach countians to take advantage of their own county's Better Breakfast Campaign and the nutritional programs sponsored by the Extension home economists agent and all home economists who are interested in promoting better health countywide.

BUY U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

Why should you buy
 U. S. Savings Bonds when there are so many other good investments?

To help your country, it is one answer—and a good one.

But Bonds have other advantages that make them worth your consideration.

For instance, they offer you just about the easiest way to save money: either with the Payroll Savings Plan, where you just ask your employer to put part of your wages aside toward a Bond or through regular purchase of Bonds at your bank.

Another unique advantage of U. S. Savings Bonds is the way they stick with you. You can get your money any time.

But if you're like most people, you'll hang on to your Savings Bonds for the big things you want in your future.

And, of course, Bonds are a safe investment—as long as there's a United States of America.

Which brings us back to your country again. Bonds help defend freedom at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

Buy Savings Bonds. The banks or savings institutions that sell them don't charge you a penny for the service.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with
